what should you do post treatment?

Since all the work is happening beneath the skin, results will come no matter what you do. However, here's what we recommend to enhance and maintain your results.

- 1. Avoid applying makeup on the day of treatment to avoid clogging your pores. And, try to avoid direct sunlight for a few hours post treatment as your freshly peeled and microneedled skin may be sensitive to sunlight.
- 2. Book your Pro Microneedling with the same Professional Skin Therapist every 4 weeks for maximum visible results.
- 3. Purchase your prescribed home care product system to maintain and enhance your results in between treatments.
- 4. Get adequate rest as this is the time your body recovers and repairs the most. You'll see noticeable results within 2 weeks!

why microneedling?

Microneedling has rapidly gained popularity in the past decade. Today, this minimally-invasive procedure is one of the most requested skin treatments globally to treat hyperpigmentation, lines, wrinkles and visible pores.

Recent studies have proven that this technique is able to stimulate collagen production and target the melanocytes responsible for melanin overproduction and hyperpigmentation.

how does microneedling work?

Microneedling triggers the body's wound healing process. By using fine needles to make miniscule, evenly-spaced micro-injuries, the treatment stimulates the healthy tissue surrounding the microneedling wounds to repair the damage. This triggers the production of collagen and elastin - rebuilding the skin's dermal structure and helping to reduce the appearance of wrinkles and texture irregularities such as acne pitting or stretch marks.
